

Shawneetown is Officially Split

New Town to Retain Name by Council Action

Old Section Probably Will Use Name of Old Shawneetown

The old and the new parts of Shawneetown were separated officially at 8:15 last night by city council action and today the old town, which will get to keep the name Shawneetown.

The split was effected by unanimous approval of an ordinance by the council, meeting at the new town, which will get to keep the name Shawneetown.

The separation ordinance follows the referendum of May 24, in which voters from both sections approved the split.

Leaders in the old town are expected to go ahead with a petition requesting incorporation of the area. With the town incorporated, it can set up its own motor fuel tax program and will be able to set up its own city sales tax program if it desires.

Before the towns were split, the council approved ordinances authorizing barges to operate on the Ohio at the old town. Granted privileges to use the streets and shore facilities of the old section were the T. Y. Williams Grain Co., the Adams and Wright Coal Co., and the Illinois Farm Bureau.

There were stipulations that if the old town were not incorporated within three months, payments made by the three companies would go to Shawneetown.

The new ordinance outlined the boundaries of the town. The council also called a special meeting for June 19 to divide Shawneetown into six wards instead of four, since two of the six councilmen were from the old section.

The new town was added to the old section in 1938 as a Federal Housing addition after the 1937 flood submerged the old town. Many residents moved to the new site on higher ground three miles away on Route 13 but a large number remained on the river.

All official functions were moved to the new section and the waterworks system was transferred there.

A 1941 old town petition to have the new section declared illegal went to the Illinois Supreme Court but was turned down.

Agriculture Department Forecasts Sizable Decline in Crop Production

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—A sizable decline in crop production — the first in 11 years — is in prospect for the 1956 harvest.

The Department of Agriculture's Crop Reporting Board made this forecast Monday on the basis of reports from its far-flung corps of reporters. But the forecast was tempered by one fact. The crop reporters' assessed conditions as of June 1. Some general rains fell just afterward. These may result in improved crop outlook in many localities, especially if followed by good growing weather.

The board said the "all crops" prospects on June 1 were the lowest for that date since 1945. The 1945 all-crop was about 12 per cent smaller than the record all-crop of last year. Only in the south central and western regions do crop appraisals exceed those of June 1,

Agree on New Contract for Truck Drivers

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Teamsters and contractors representatives Monday agreed on a new three-year contract covering truck drivers over much of Illinois.

Announcement of the contracted agreement ended negotiations which began Feb. 7, and which threatened on occasion to erupt in a general strike.

The agreement covers an estimated 30,000 truck drivers and the Central Illinois Builders Assn. and the Southern Illinois Builders Assn. It includes most of Illinois except the Chicago metropolitan area.

The contract includes six "economic areas" in which wage scales are different. Pay raises in the six areas range from 25 to 50 cents an hour over the three-year period. The union, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers, had attempted to decrease the number of "economic areas" to three.

Raises granted by area were: Area 1, the industrial area around East St. Louis: From the present $2.45 base pay to $2.95 over three years; 15 cents additional on upper classifications over three years.

Area 2, Peoria, Tazewell and Peoria counties, and the counties surrounding East St. Louis: From $2.35 to $2.80 on basic classifications; 25 cents on upper classifications.

Area 3, Sangamon County: From $2.35 to $2.55 basic; 15 cents on upper classifications.

Area 4, some 17 central and northern counties: From $2.20 to $2.55 in basic classifications; 20 cents in upper classifications.

Area 5, about 42 counties throughout the state: From $2.15 to $2.45 in basic classifications; 20 cents in the upper classification.

Area 6, seven southeast counties: From $2 to $2.45 in basic classifications; 25 cents on most upper classifications.

Senators Refuse Commitments On Foreign Aid

Administration Makes All-Out Appeal for Program

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The administration made an all-out appeal to the Senate today to restore at least $600,000,000 of the $1,100,000,000 which the House cut from the foreign aid bill. But Senate leaders refused to make any commitments.

Top administration officials made the appeal on behalf of President Eisenhower during a 90-minute meeting at the White House with Republican and Democratic Senate leaders.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said afterward that "no commitments were asked and none were given."

Speaking for the administration were Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Foreign Aid Chief John B. Hollister, and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced earlier that Adams told the congressional leaders that Mr. Eisenhower feels strongly that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the nation's security would be undercut if the House slash in the aid program were allowed to stand.

Johnson told reporters the administration officials at the meeting "showed the importance of this program and indicated they felt great injury would be done if the $600,000,000 amendment is not accepted."

Johnson said congressional leaders asked for certain further information on details of foreign aid. Johnson declined to give details of the information sought.

But Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said the matter of continuing aid to Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia "was discussed and was one of the matters on which additional details were asked."

There's a strong move to cut off aid to Yugoslavia because of its reconciliation with Russia. Neither Johnson nor Knowland would express an opinion on the action the Senate is likely to take on the controversial aid issue.

Swedish Prince Denies Romance With Margaret

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (U.P.)—Prince Bertil of Sweden formally denied today that he intends to marry Princess Margaret, his royal guest at the Olympic equestrian games.

Less than a day after the 44-year-old prince escorted the 25-year-old British princess from the airport he made it known there is no truth in the rumors of a romance between them.

Bertil is the bachelor son of Sweden's King Gustaf VI Adolf and second in line to the Swedish throne.

Princess Margaret, third in line to the British throne, flew here Monday to join Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh who concluded a state visit to Sweden and stayed over officially to watch the Olympic games.

Bertil met the Princess at the airport when she arrived with other members of the British nobility. The rumors linking the prince and princess had been heard for more than a year and late in May one of the Stockholm afternoon newspapers said, "dare we hope" that there is a romance between them.

Buckingham Palace had refused to comment on the rumors but today Bertil said no.

The Health Department, which administers distribution of the vaccine in Illinois, previously had limited the eligible group to persons between 6 months and 15 years, and pregnant women.

President Eisenhower Signs First Papers Since Operation

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Eisenhower today signed his first official documents since his operation, held several conferences, and all in all gave the impression he "feels very good."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was the authority for the quotation about how the President felt.

He said Mr. Eisenhower held the documents on his knee while he signed them. He displayed the signatures to newsmen and said they "look fine" even though they were not as firm as they might have been if the President had been at a desk.

The three documents were: An executive order approving a new flag for the U. S. Army, authorization of an emergency allocation of $50,000 for flood relief in Colorado, and an international wheat agreement for 1956.

Before the President signed the documents, an 8 a. m. EDT medical bulletin said that Monday night was the "most comfortable" one the President had had since his operation early Saturday for an intestinal obstruction. The doctors said "his spirits are high, his morale is good."

In addition to signing the three documents, the President directed his personal attention to the congressional drive to slash his $4-900,000,000 foreign aid program.

Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams reported to him on a conference he and other administration leaders held at the White House today with Senate leaders. The purpose was to try to persuade the Senate to restore at least $600,000,000 of the $1,100,000,000 which the House cut from the aid bill Monday.

Hagerty said no definite appointment had been made yet for Vice President Richard M. Nixon to see the President. Monday, he said Nixon would be the first person to see the President outside of his immediate family and staff.

The day's first medical bulletin said:

Mr. Eisenhower showed he was steadily gaining strength by getting out of bed Monday and walking 80 feet in two trips within his hospital room. He required even less support than on his first 30-foot trip Sunday.

Extend Military Law to Cover Oversea Civilians

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Supreme Court has extended military law to cover more than 250,000 civilian dependents stationed with the armed forces in 63 foreign countries.

The court ruled in what a three-man minority called a decision of far-reaching importance that the civilian dependents overseas are not constitutionally guaranteed a jury trial and other legal safeguards enjoyed by civilians at home. Instead, they are subject to military courts-martial.

The ruling came on the final day of the term along with a small avalanche of opinions and orders before adjourning until Oct. 1. Among other things, the court in a 6-3 ruling struck down President Eisenhower's 1953 order that blanketed all federal workers wherever employed into the employee security program. The majority held that—entirely aside from a worker's own character—the order did not set up proper standards for relating a particular job to the national safety.

Justice Tom C. Clark delivered the opinion on military dependents. It upheld the convictions of Mrs. Clarice B. Covert of Atlanta, Ga., by an Air Force court-martial in England and of Mrs. Dorothy Kreuger Smith, daughter of Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger (ret.), by an Army court martial in Japan. Both were charged with murdering their husbands.

Paychecks for County Clerk Office Held Up

Tuberculosis Care Approved by Board Unanimously

Saline county will vote at the regular election Nov. 6 on the continuance of the tuberculosis care program which has been in operation here since 1938.

Resolutions calling for the balloting were passed unanimously yesterday by the Saline County Board of Supervisors.

In other action yesterday the board by a close vote approved a motion to hold up the current paychecks for help in the office of County Clerk Don B. Garrison; transferred part of a fund to meet deficits and anticipated deficits; approved the six months reports of county officers; empowered the road and bridge committee to buy two Loadometers to check truck weights; and approved the annual Tuberculosis budget. The meeting lasted all day.

Report by TB Board

The action to vote on the tuberculosis care program came after remarks by William Douglas, a member of the county board of supervisors who also is a member of the TB board; and Harry M. Argus of Eldorado, attorney for the Saline County Tuberculosis Sanitarium board.

Douglas gave the annual report of the TB board in Saline county, which revealed that 80 persons in the county received sanitarium care during the past year, that $37,137.51 was spent during the period. He then presented the budget for the fiscal year starting June 1, which was approved.

Argus presented petitions bearing 216 names (with 100 names required) asking for the election asking for a tax levy to care for persons afflicted by tuberculosis.

He explained that there will be no additional tax, that the people are now paying for the program. In 1938, he pointed out, the people voted a .075 levy to establish a sanitarium, with the funds used to put persons in sanitariums elsewhere.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

If a man thinketh himself to be something when he is nothing he deceiveth himself, Galatians 6:3.
Paul gave himself small credit,
he said it is no longer I that live but Christ that dwelleth in me.
The civilized world has exalted Paul to a great height. That is better than being deflated by public opinion.

Chameleon Tactics

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
The decision of the United Nations Command to throw out the "neutral" truce teams operating in South Korea was long overdue.
They have been functioning as agents of communism rather than truce inspectors.

When the armistice was approved in 1953, a neutral team comprising Swedish, Swiss, Czech and Polish representatives was formed.
The first two were assigned to study truce enforcement in North Korea, the latter pair in South Korea.

Almost from the beginning the Chinese Reds thwarted efforts of the Swedish and Swiss representatives to determine the degree of Communist compliance with the truce terms. They were unable to make on-the-spot checks to see whether any new military build-up was taking place in violation of the agreement.

Meantime, reports accepted by the U. N. Command as authentic filtered in to the effect that Red violations were continuous and numerous.

Across the line in South Korea, the Czech and Polish representatives freely used their "inspection" privileges for espionage and subversion. The command charges them with being "flagrantly" un-neutral.

Judged practically, what the Chinese have done is to employ the period since July, 1953, as if it were merely an interval between phases of a war rather than a postwar prelude to real peace in the area.

One gets the feeling that the Reds might decide to move south again, if and when they believed the military balance was sufficiently favorable to them and political conditions in South Korea were conveniently unstable.

The truce has meant an end to "hotting war, and that is of tremendous importance. But it has not spelled the end of uncertainty, or the Communists feast on uncer-ainty.

In their callous corruption of the neutral armistice commission or their own strategic purposes, they have revealed afresh that they respect no agreement except as it suits them.

The normal devices of international accord and association are for the Reds mere elements to be warped to fit a plan of conquest that changes but never dies.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Republican Leaders Consider
New Candidates In View Of Ike's Indigestion. He Had Stomach Seizure After Stag
Dinner In March; Dr. White
Later Qualified His Prediction
On Ike's Life Span.

WASHINGTON. — The Republican high command has been doing some worried overhauling of strategy as a result of the President's sudden illness. What the outcome will be is difficult to say.
But it's entirely possible that, regardless of the politicians, General Eisenhower will carry out his pledge to re-examine his health and withdraw from the race before the San Francisco convention.

Also important is a move by party strategists to drop Vice President Nixon. Despite the White House blessing given Nixon last month, some of the top command have not been happy about it, still feeling that the vice presidential candidate will be almost as important as the candidate for President.

While it was carefully hushed up in the White House, the President suffered another attack, though not a long one, at a stag dinner in early March, immediately after he announced he would run again.

Attacks of acute indigestion have been troubling Mr. Eisenhower for some time, dating back to 1949 when he had to take three months off as a result of inflammation of the stomach lining. Another attack occurred immediately after he addressed the American Society of Newspaper Editors in April, 1953. He was suffering prior to the dinner, but managed to get through his speech before he was helped off the platform to a side room where he collapsed in a chair.

TELEVISED HEALTH REPORT

Unfortunately the public has never been given a clear picture of the President's health. The carefully presented, televised report on his health did not give the whole picture, as Dr. Paul Dudley White virtually admitted afterward in an interview with William McNamara of the Providence (R.
I.) Journal.

On the same night that Dr.
White made his health report in Washington, another distinguished heart specialist, Dr. Samuel Levine of the Harvard Medical school, publicly differed with him by stating: "Nobody can accurately predict the life span of an individual" heart patient.

When confronted with Dr. Le-vine's statement in Boston, Dr.
White said he agreed that no one could predict the life span of a heart patient. He then pointed out something which the news headlines did not carry and most readers missed—namely, that he had qualified his own "five-to-ten-year" prediction for Eisenhower by inserting such phrases as "uncertainties of the future," "changes," and "should."

This, Dr. White explained to New England newsmen, modified his prediction and put him in complete agreement with Dr. Levine that you could not predict the life span of a heart patient.

"We are both optimists," he told McNamara of the Providence Journal, "and we are quite in agreement." Questioned further, he added "complete agreement."
In other words, Dr. White told the world on television, subject to some little-noticed phrases, that the President "should be able to carry on an active life for another five to ten years." But he told New England newsmen that no one could predict the life span of a heart patient.

HECTIC PRESIDENTIAL DAY

Another point emphasized by Dr. Levine was that any excitement which causes a speed-up in the heartbeat "could be very damaging."

It happens that the day the President suffered his latest attack of indigestion was especially nerve-wracking. In it he was forced literally to eat his own words about neutralism made at a press conference the day before.

Ike's off-the-cuff statement sympathizing with other nations which failed to join in alliances with military powers (such as the United States) brought amazed queries and frenzied protests from such staunch allies as Pakistan and the Philippines, plus word that it might completely end the effectiveness of the Adenauer regime in Germany.

As a result, the White House and State Department spent several hectic hours drafting a statement which as gracefully as possible said the President of the United States hadn't meant what he actually said. It was a humiliating statement to come from the White House, but the alternative was to lose some of our best allies.

On top of this came word that the House of Representatives had reversed Ike's personal plea for foreign-aid funds. On the whole, it was a day to test the health of even the most vigorous President.

HOPE'S MERRY-GO-ROUND

Counteracting the hectic presidential day were some of the best wisecracks ever to come from that king of wisecracks, Bob Hope, at the White House photographers' dinner. If laughter is conducive to good health, Ike should have been in tiptop form after listening ... Here is part of Hope's assortment:

"I'm delighted to do this job for free. I was supposed to be paid a little something, but it was put in the foreign appropriations bill."
... "Adlai and Estes just finished an old-fashioned mudslinging campaign in California. By the time they left they'd stuccoed 500 homes." ... "Lyndon Johnson of Texas has got into the race for President. I think it's a grand idea. Texas hasn't had a president since it admitted the U. S. A.
I can see the president from Tex-into the Alamo." ... "One thing about a Texan for president. He won't dicker with the Russians.

He'll buy 'em outright." ... "Gov-his right to get it." ... "No mat-good for the farmers. Those speeches really help the crops."

"The city of Washington look-all those warships lined up on the Potomac, their guns pointing at the office of the Secretary of the Army." ... "Imagine the Army, Navy, and Air Force all fighting each other. Oh for the good old accused him of everything—even sending a Christmas present to Senator Joe McCarthy."

Russia is Still Governed by Dictatorship, Dulles Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today Russia is still governed by a "dictatorship" and won't become a peace-loving democracy just because the new Kremlin leaders are loudly denouncing Stalin's crimes.

He told a news conference that the free world can always "hope" that Communist Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev's sweeping attack on Stalin "will" mark the beginning of a change away from that Stalin system of dictatorship. "But that, I fear, may not be his purpose," Dulles said. "The purpose may be merely to persuade the subject peoples that the present dictatorship is good because it condemns the past dictatorship."

"There is only one cure for the evils of the imposed Soviet dictatorship — that is government which derives its powers from the consent of the governed," Dulles said.

Dulles also declared there is no difference whatever between his views and President Eisenhower's views on neutralism. Some confusion was created when Mr. Eisenhower said last week that there may be risks involved for nations which join in collective security pacts. The White House later issued a clarifying statement saying the President believes in the principle of collective security. Dulles said in an address last Saturday that except in very special circumstances the concept of neutrality is "immoral and short-sighted."

Study Bulgarian Letter
Other highlights of Dulles' news conference: Asked whether he thought it would be "useful" for the U. S. joint chiefs to visit Russia, Dulles said that is a matter for military judgment and he assumed that the feeling of the military was reflected in the White House statement Monday declining for the present a tentative Soviet invitation.

Vernon Smith, chairman of the claims committee, read figures to the board on the pay he said was received by current and past employees of the county clerk's office. He said the claims committee did not approve the current checks because he wished to read to the board amounts above regular deputy hire he charged some had received.

The board voted to hold up payment until the claims committee and finance committee could make an investigation.

While Smith was making his report there were general objections to his figures by Maude Curry, deputy clerk acting as clerk of the board in the absence of Garrison. Last month the board voted to demand from Garrison's Bonding Co. an amount of more than $9,000 it charges Garrison has collected in salary since 1952 over the amount set up in the appropriation ordinance. There was no mention of this situation yesterday.

Other Claims Approved
Smith said that $200 is the limit for extra clerk hire and charged that apparently some persons had been paid money for extra duties, that he had been advised this should not be done.

Some then brought up that it was better for regular employees to be doing work in evenings and getting the money than for the office to hire new extra help. Others said that the appropriation ordinance stated definitely what each was to receive.

The board then passed a motion, nine to eight, stating that all claims except the county clerk's office hire, a mileage claim of the bailiff, Jim Woolard, and a claim on an election booth, should be paid, with the clerk hire checks to be held for an investigation by the finance and claims committees.

Later Woolard came before the board and said he was entering his claim for $10 a day instead of $7.50, as the law allowed him that much.

Vernon Smith was asked by one member why the question of salaries of county clerk hire had not come up in the past. Smith said that only last month the board passed a motion which said that all salaries must come before the board for approval and that this was the first month that they were aired before the claims committee and board.

Transfer Funds
Charles Skaggs, chairman of the finance committee, asked for and received permission to transfer $4,455 from an appropriation of $7,169.75 set aside to buy an addressograph. Skaggs said there were some funds over their appropriations and some nearing depletion and that the transfer was necessary.

Read by Raymond E. Field and approved were six-months reports of the county officers.

A state veterinarian was present to tell the county that the six years since cattle were tested here for tuberculosis will be up in October and asked for county help in setting up the program.

A motion to turn over to each township the responsibility of arranging for tests in the respective townships was passed.

A motion to allow the county mine inspector $25 a month for travelling expenses was approved, 8 to 6.

Says Weighing Devices Needed

After a discussion by R. D. Brown, a motion by Tom Maxwell to empower the road and bridge committee to buy two loadometers to check truck weights was passed. Brown said weighing devices were needed to enforce load limits and could be used to check loads of gravel being hauled to county and township road operations.

On motion by William Alfred Smith, Chairman Howard Patterson was empowered to fill a vacancy on the Tuberculosis board due to expiration of a term. It is the term of Dr. Warren D. Tuttle, named to fill a vacancy created when Dr. John E. Chesser of Eldorado moved to St. Louis to take advanced training. Other members of the board are Dr. Frank Skaggs and William Douglas.

Illinois GOP Delegation to Organize Saturday

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — State Republican Chairman Morton H. Hollingsworth said today the Illinois delegation to the party's national convention will meet here Saturday to organize.

Hollingsworth would not comment on the possibility of the delegates adopting a resolution endorsing President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon for re-election.

He said the delegates would meet to name a delegation chairman, a national committeeman, national committeewoman, two Illinois representatives on the convention credentials, rules and permanent organization committees.

Gov. William G. Stratton is expected to be named delegation chairman. C. Wayland Brooks and Mrs. Wesley Dixon are expected to be re-elected national committeeman and national committeewoman. U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen is slated for one of the places on the platform committee.

Humphrey Sees Improvement in Auto Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey predicted today that conditions in the auto industry will improve within "a relatively short time." He made the prediction in testimony before a House-Senate economic subcommittee investigating relationships between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve. The investigation was prompted by the recent increase in Federal Reserve basic interest rates.

Humphrey conceded that current unemployment in the auto industry was due partly to tighter credit resulting from the hike in interest rates. This contributed to a decline in sales. But he said there were other factors, too—for example, dealers' stocks had gotten too high. But he said he believes conditions in the industry will improve soon.

Boy Loses Legs In Explosion of Home-made Rocket

GRANITE CITY, ILL. (AP) — A 13-year-old Granite City boy Monday lost both legs in the explosion of a home-made "rocket."

David Christian, son of Mrs. Rosetta Elmore, underwent amputation of both legs at the hip. Physicians at St. Elizabeth's Hospital described his condition as satisfactory.

Ronald Pritchett, 15, son of Mrs. Ella Mae Pritchett, and Paul Linggle, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Jordan, suffered eye injuries in the blast.

Doctors said tiny metal fragments were imbedded in each boy's eyeballs.

The explosion occurred in a shed in the backyard of the Christian boys' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tade Nelson. Police said the boys were apparently making the rocket from railroad torpedoes.

The policy covers your home and other structures on the ground (if you own), your household goods and personal property. It also includes liability and additional living expenses due to loss or damage. All this protection costs much less than you'd pay to get it in separate policies.

And here's another worthwhile benefit: — you get extra value with your North America policy, and 'on-the-spot' personal service from your North America agent. He's an independent local businessman, trained to protect your welfare. You can change over any time—from several policies to one packaged policy—and get credit. ### Greek Church Leader Deported By Scotland Yard

LONDON (UP) — Scotland Yard deported the London head of the Greek Orthodox Church early today in its first major crackdown on Cypriot anti-British activity in Britain. Police agents seized Archimandrite (Abbot) Killinikos Macheriotis in his downtown rectory late Monday and put him aboard a plane for Athens shortly after midnight. The Home Office said Macheriotis is a Greek national and that he was ousted from Britain "in the public interest." Archbishop Makarios, leader of the pro-Greek movement on Cyprus, and three other churchmen were exiled from Cyprus to the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean last March. But the ouster of Macheriotis was the first deportation from Britain itself. It followed a Scotland Yard security crackdown based on reports that Greek Cypriots in London might try to seek revenge against the royal family or the Cabinet for the hanging of two Cypriot gunmen last May 10.

Just Graduated...To a Cadillac!

It's graduation time! And this happy gentleman—appropriately enough—has just gone through some important graduation exercises of his own.

It was just a few minutes ago, in fact, that he stood in his dealer's showroom and accepted the keys to his first Cadillac.

But even though he now holds his final degree, so to speak, in motor car ownership, his education in all the good things of motordom is only beginning.

Take performance, for instance. The car is so smooth and powerful, and so nimble and obedient that it automatically revises a man's standards of performance.

Consider comfort. Rolling along the broadest boulevard or taking the roughest bylane, the car is incredibly smooth and level in ride.

And think about pride and satisfaction. What an extraordinary feeling it is to sit in command of the "car of cars"—and find yourself the subject of admiring glances on every hand.

Have you ever considered how wonderful it would be to "graduate" to Cadillac? Certainly, it's the perfect season for enjoying a new Cadillac. The days are bright and long . . . the roads are beautiful and inviting . . . and there are wonderful places to go and exciting things to do.

And certainly, it has never been easier to sign your name to the title. We are, happily, in a position to offer you prompt delivery on your favorite model—and we know you will be pleased to learn how practical Cadillac ownership has now become.

Why not pay us a visit soon—and spend an hour at the wheel?

It's a wonderful season and a wonderful car—and a wonderful opportunity to enjoy them both!

Rev. Morman Tells Rotarians of Ministers' Duties

The Rev. R. J. Morman, pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke at the Rotary meeting Monday. He was introduced by Russell Malan, who presided over the meeting in the absence of club president William Hopkins.

Rev. Morman spoke on the selection of Baptist ministers and the duties that they perform. He stated in his talk that a minister has much more to do than just deliver several sermons each week. A minister, according to Rev. Morman, should be a businessman, know something about finances, attend civic affairs, and be somewhat of a psychologist.

Rev. Morman attended Baylor university, the largest denominational school in the United States, after which he was the pastor of several churches before coming to Harrisburg where he has been for three years.

Curtis Starr, visiting Rotarian from Mt. Vernon was a guest at the meeting and was introduced by Louis Beltz.

The program for next week's meeting will be planned by P. E. Nyberg.

STOCKS EXTEND RECOVERY

NEW YORK—Stocks extended their rally today with industrials at noon showing an 84 per cent recovery of their Friday loss.

Steady improvement of the President helped the rise along. Another factor was a favorable report on business by Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

Humphrey said heavy inventories of automobiles soon will be behind us. The auto stocks firmed with General Motors active. Ford and Chrysler each gained 1/2 point.

Noon Dow-Jones averages: Industrial 461.77, up 2.36; rail 164.38, up 0.52; utility 65.64, up 0.06; 65 stocks 172.30, up 0.62.

Air Force Rules Out Tests with Army Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Air Force officers today ruled out any early test between controversial Army and Air Force anti-aircraft missiles despite a senator's assertion that the tests will be held in the "not too distant future."

One officer said that the Air Force's Talos missile could not be tested now to show whether it is superior to the Army's Nike because the Talos "is not even developed yet." Development of the missile to operational status will take another year, he said.

Another officer said that the Talos eventually will have greater range and altitude performance than the Nike. But he said such comparisons are unfair because at the moment the Nike is the nation's "only operational" anti-aircraft guided missile.

The officers' reactions were obtained after Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) said Monday Congress may order future production of the Nike halted in favor of the Talos. The New Mexico Democrat, chairman of a military appropriations subcommittee, said the Talos apparently is "a better weapon" and a show-down duel will be staged to make sure.

He told reporters that if the tests bear out present indications, his subcommittee probably would recommend that only the Talos be bought in the future.

Earlier the subcommittee questioned the Army, Navy and Air Force chiefs of staff at a secret hearing. Chavez said that all three military leaders, including Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, "think Talos is the best." This view was not shared by the Army previously.

House Committee Cites Paul Robeson For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities voted unanimously today to cite Negro singer Paul Robeson for contempt of Congress.

The action came moments after Robeson refused to say whether he is a Communist. He shouted at committee members:

"You are the non-patriots and you are the un-Americans and you ought to be ashamed of yourselves."

Committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) immediately banged his gavel and announced the hearing adjourned.

"I think it should be," Robeson commented.

"I've stood just about as much of this as I can," Walter said. "You should adjourn this forever," Robeson snapped over his shoulder as he left the witness stand.

Walter huddled with other members and they voted unanimously to recommend that Robeson be cited for contempt.

The Negro singer was the first witness as the committee resumed hearings into charges that Communists have obtained American passports to travel abroad to promote Soviet propaganda.

Robeson has made many trips to Russia and other places abroad.

Lone Gunman Takes $65,000 In Bank Holdup

SOUTHPORT, Ind. (AP)—A bandit held a bank president and his wife prisoner for seven hours today and escaped with an estimated $65,000 in Indiana's biggest bank holdup in 28 years.

Six women employees of the bank were held prisoner for up to an hour by the gunman and they, with the president and his wife, were locked in the vault while the robber made his escape from the bank.

The money was taken from the Southport State Bank in this suburb of Indianapolis in southern Marion County.

Victims of the holdup were John A. Whalen, president of the bank, and his wife. They were held at gunpoint in their home from about 2 a. m. by a lone gunman who wore a stocking pulled over his face.

According to state police records, it was the biggest Indiana bank holdup since May 8, 1928, when an Angola bank was robbed of $96,000.

Young Pole Makes Break for Freedom

LONDON (AP)—A young Pole brought to England as a member of a visiting archery team made a dramatic break for freedom Sunday under the very noses of his Communist teammates, it was disclosed today.

The refugee was handsome 22-year-old Roman Kazimierzczuk who joined his brother and mother in England. They were deported by the Russians in 1941, escaped to England and had not seen Roman in 15 years.

His rescue was staged with the help of a group of Polish refugees now living in Britain and carried out despite the careful watch kept on the archery team, whose members were making their first visit outside the Iron Curtain.

Slansky was arrested, tried and executed in 1951 for "treacherous activities" against the state. The Fields were accused of helping him and were jailed.

Jackson's pounded out their 33 runs on 23 hits, nine errors and six walks. Gibbons scored three times on four hits, two errors and four bases on balls. C. Wolleson and Gee led the winners at bat with two home runs and a single each. Hegglin had a homer and four singles. Gully blasted one round-tripper and two singles. The Cubs scored eight runs in a big fourth inning as they edged the Dodgers, 17-15. Walks were the big factors in this ball game as the Cubs had but four hits but collected 12 free passes. The Dodgers sent 15 runners across the plate on six hits, six walks and four misplays. Lambert was the leading hitter for the winners with a long homer and a single and Taylor singled for the Cubs at bat. The Dodgers' six-hit attack was led by C. Meadows with a homer and single in three times at bat. Darrar singled twice, B. Meadows homered and Wallace singled to complete the losers' attack. Hefner and Lambert pitched for the Cubs and Potter, Wallace and B. Meadows hurled for the Dodgers.

Pickford's Tigers showed early superiority in the Three-I league as they led all the way in defeating VFW, 14-4. The winners scored four times in the first, twice in the second, twice in the fourth and six times in the seventh, while the VFW team tallied one run in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the seventh. ## Gophers Meet Bradley in Fourth Round NCAA Series

OMAHA —The undefeated Minnesota Gophers tackle the once-beaten Bradley Braves tonight in the fourth round of the NCAA college world series.

Arizona and Mississippi, each of which have bitten the dust once in the double elimination national championship, were scheduled for an afternoon contest.

The Gophers walked 19 hits Monday night as they shot past the Mississippi Rebels, 13-3, for their third victory. Bradley stayed alive by eliminating Wyoming, 12-8, and Arizona advanced to the fourth round by squeezing home a run in the ninth to oust New Hampshire, 1-0.

Jerry Kindall, who doubles as a basketball player for Minnesota, and Dean Mass, next season's Gopher football captain, were the key men in the Minnesota victory.

Kindall, the Big Ten's leading hitter, swatted a homer, a triple, a double, and a single in five appearances. Mass pitched a four-hitter.

Monday's thriller was the Arizona-New Hampshire clash. For eight frames, neither team could move a man past second. Then the Tucson club loaded the bases without a hit in the top of the ninth. Craig Sorensen dropped a perfect bunt and Harry Messick tore home from third.

Bradley iced its game in the third as 10 men marched to the plate and six runs came home. Jim Hoppe blasted a home run for the Cowboys, but the Braves were not to be denied.

Sam Snead IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Sam Snead still liked his chances today as he looked forward to the day that always got away.

Slammin' Sam, the fairway financier from the West Virginia hills, is 44 and "puttin' polly" as he works out at Rolling Oak Hill Country Club for this weekend's U. S. Open golf championship. But Sam isn't counting himself out.

"Shucks," quoth the lean man with the syrupy swing, "I'm not too good right now but when this yere thing starts come Thursday I could be better'n a fire cracker."

One thing you've got to say for old Sam. He's no quitter.

This will mark his 16th attempt to win the "big one" which is about the only one in golf he hasn't captured. His laurels include three Masters championships, three PGA titles and the British Open, along with a banana stalk full of other events.

But his luck in the U. S. Open has been enough to break the blue suede shoes of any guy who ever swung a driver or "yipped" a putt.

Four times he has been a frustrated second. A fifth time he threw it away with a horrible eight on the final hole. But Sam is still in there pitching—and putting.

"Shucks," he added with his usual preface remark, "I allus liked my chances in the Open. Why should this time be any different?"

Actually, it shouldn't. Because when the figures were tallied up after last year's tournaments who do you think was the hottest scorer in 1955? You're right, Samuel Jackson Snead. He waltzed off with his fourth Vardon trophy as the tournament year's low scorer with a handsome 69.36 average. That's cow pasture pool at its finest.

Sam is a tireless player unaffected, except on the topknot, by the years. Every pro on the circuit will tell you that he might have won the Open a dozen times if he had copped it on his first try.

He should have, too. That was in 1937 when Sam came out of the West Virginia hills and shot a record 283 in the Open. Then he sat helplessly by as Ralph Guldahl came in through the dusk to break Snead's hour-old mark. Two years later Sam stood on the final tee needing a par five to win. He flubbed home with a catastrophic eight.

In 1947 he tied with Lew Worsham but lost the playoff. In 1949 he closed fast and just failed to catch Cary Middlecoff. And in 1953 he was second to Ben Hogan.

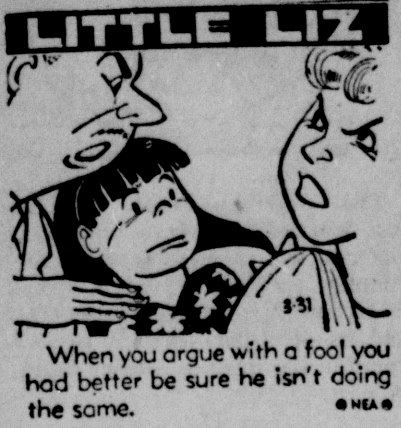

Ed Furgol, the dark horse winner of 1954 and a keen golf analyst, likes Sam's chances at Oak Hill.

"Snead looks as good as anybody, if not better," says Furgol, who called the shot on his own victory two years ago. "You can unload on the ball here because the rough is not too tough and the long iron players will score real well. Sam will be up there."

The question, again, is whether he'll be up high enough to finally reach the end of heartbreak highway.

Presidential Paperhangers
George Washington and his friend, the Marquis de Lafayette, personally papered the dining room of historic Mount Vernon in less than half a day.

Great Lakes freighters carried some 87.5 million tons of iron ore in 1955 to set a peacetime record for such cargo.

Legion Drops 9 to 2 Game at Nashville, Tenn.

The Harrisburg Legion nine journeyed to Nashville, Tenn., Sunday and came out on the short end of a 9 to 2 game against the Elite Giants of that city. The locals were short handed in this contest because several of the regulars were unable to go due to exams at S. I. U. and for other reasons. Frankie Logsdon took the team down and managed the club for the day.

Don Wallace started on the rubber for the locals and had trouble with his control giving up several walks which aided the winners in scoring five of their runs in the third inning with only one safe blow being allowed. Mills, who relieved Wallace finished and pitched creditable ball in relief.

Russell was on the hill for the Giants and his battery mate was Patton. Dick Romonosky caught all the way for the Legion.

Saturday night the Legion will play the Nashville Barons here under the lights. The Barons were the other team in the three way double header that was played at Nashville Sunday and had the locals won their game with the Giants they would have faced them. The Barons have a 16 won and none lost record for this season. Fans who saw the Barons play here last season agree that they have one of the best teams playing independent baseball.

The first tea farm in America was at Summerville, S. C., which is now known as "the flower town among the pines."

Brewer Wins 8th Straight As Red Sox Beat Indians, 5-1; Dodgers Trip Cardinals, 8-6

By United Press

Coach Dave Ferriss' tip to slow down his delivery was credited today with enabling Tom Brewer of the Boston Red Sox to reach stardom in a big hurry.

Brewer, a 24-year-old right-hander from Wadesboro, N. C., took the former Red Sox pitching star's advice and says "It's the big reason" he now owns a glittering 9-1 record and a 2.41 earned run average. Brewer leads the American League in victories and his eight in a row are a season high for the majors.

Brewer scored his eighth consecutive win Monday night when he flipped a three-hitter to give the Red Sox a 5-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The Indians had won the afternoon portion of the day-night doubleheader to extend a Red Sox losing streak to three games.

Tom was touched for a run on a walk and two singles in the second inning but allowed only one more hit the rest of the way. Jackie Jensen hit a two-run homer for Boston in the second inning and the Sox added three more runs in the fifth with the aid of a double by Ted Williams. Williams had three hits in the doubleheader to raise his average to .304.

Al Smith, Chico Carrasquel and Al Rosen homered for the Indians in the afternoon game, enabling Cal McLish to pick up his second victory with relief aid from Ray Narleski.

The Baltimore Orioles dealt the Detroit Tigers their third straight setback, 5-4, when Bob Nieman blasted a 430-foot two-run homer in the fifth. Hector Brown won his third game, taking over for George Zuverink in the eighth.

Vic Power Stars
Vic Power drove in three runs with a homer and a double to lead the Kansas City Athletics to a 6-3 triumph after Carlos Paula's three-run pinch homer in the eighth gave the Washington Senators a 4-3 decision in the opener of their two-night doubleheader. Alex Kellner pitched a seven-hit ter for his third win in the second game. Bobby Shantz was the victim of Paula's game-winning homer and suffered his second defeat.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, making passes like they are about to take charge of the National League race, downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-6, with Duke Snider hitting two homers and Don Newcombe gaining credit for his ninth victory. Ransom Jackson continued his heavy hitting with a two-run double and a single to raise his season average to .351.

The faltering Milwaukee Braves dropped their ninth decision in 12 games when Stu Miller pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-2 triumph. It made Miller's career mark 8-2 against the Braves who saw towering Gene Conley suffer his third loss since returning to the active list. Granny Hamner hit a two-run double and Stan Lopata stole home to highlight the Phillies' attack.

Pinckneyville to Vote on Municipal Natural Gas System

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Pinckneyville residents will vote Tuesday on the proposed construction of a $485,000 municipal natural gas system.

The local Chamber of Commerce requested the election and said a natural gas supply is necessary if Pinckneyville is to attract new industry.

The Chamber of Commerce is presently negotiating for location of an industry here, that would employ 250 to 400 persons.

The gas system would be financed by public utility certificates bearing 5 per cent interest to be retired by 1980.

Voters rejected a similar proposal here in 1954 by a vote of 573-532. At that time coal miners living here opposed the gas system on grounds that it might endanger their jobs.

Wiley Post, noted Oklahoma aviator killed in Alaska with his friend Will Rogers, is buried south of Edmond, Okla.

THE STORY: Frank Ude has just learned that Jean Cash is a sister of a man who saved his life. Emmett Cash, who brought Frank to Cashtown, may be a horse thief and he does not seem to be welcome in the town his father built.

IX
When the sheriff was gone Jean said gently, "Is there a place where you fit in this? It seems to me like part of a puzzle. Why are you in town?"

He lifted his shoulder, shrugging. "I wouldn't know about the puzzle I rode into Cashtown hunting a man. The man had done me a favor."

"Was it a big favor?" she asked. Her mouth formed a faint smile. "Well, watch him. Emmett doesn't give favors away—he expects plenty in return."

She was silent and he saw the gray shade cross her cheeks. He wondered if it was fear. It was suspicion. Suspicion of him, of Emmett Cash.

She spoke out of a depressing stillness. "Juan Lopez and I are old friends from far back. He was Dad's trail cook—a long time ago, when they herded from Texas. That Mexican is one in a thousand."

Frank told her again La Tour had said the cook was all right. Lopez, he decided, had probably been given the restaurant shack by old man Cash. Remembering the familiarity that had held between the doctor and Jean he suspected La Tour, also, had been a friend of her father's. This was why Emmett had trusted the doctor by bringing Jonathan Yates to town.

He realized suddenly he hadn't told Jean his name. He did so at once, then waited a polite moment before taking his leave. Her hand sprang out to halt him.

"I saw you ride that gelding into town. I need a man who knows horses. And you do. Assuming that your debt to Emmett isn't too great, would you consider working for Rafter C?"

Women constantly expected something from a man. His labor, his embrace or his life. He wondered which of these the girl before him with her pleading eyes expected.

He shook his head and her lips tightened. "You looked like you wanted a job. I'm sorry I bothered you."

"No bother. Thank you for the offer."

Her voice struck him, sharper than before. "Is it because you won't work for a woman?"

"I guess you've got it, ma'am." Jean Cash drew a deep breath. A whisper inside told her someone had done this man a hurt along his backtrail. She read it in his manner, in the ragged lines that sometimes piled about his mouth. He was a man seeking his place in the sun and so far everything had piled up in his way denying him his chance. For the moment she felt pity. Although she was a proud girl, she said softly, "Think it over. If you change your mind, Rafter C still needs a good hand."

Frank tramped off the doctor's porch as far as the curbline. Here he paused with his shoulder to an upright. His eyes were smoky with resentment. There was something wrong with this range.

There was no question in Frank's mind that Emmett owned his loyalty. He had promised Emmett he would join whatever he was doing, in addition, the compelling fact remained that Emmett had saved his life.

Were Emmett and Norring working hand in hand to break Jean Cash? It was just as likely Norring was the mar that had raided them along the trail to Fort McHenry.

Frank shaped a cigaret as he tramped toward the Alhambra. A woman who played piano too well, who wanted to catch his interest. A thin black-haired musician who fiddled to her music and followed her body through adoring eyes. This was all he knew definitely about the Alhambra.

He cut diagonally across to the saloon. A name on the door of another building broke his stride. Cashtown Bank. Stephen Norring, President.

So Norring was not merely a saloon man in this town. Frank saw him now shaping up as the big trump card on this range, the new power that had taken over upon old man Cash's death. Jean had said it was a puzzle; to him the blocks were beginning to fit together, the pattern no different from the sordid story of greed on another range. It brought back unhappy recollections to Frank, the tragedy that had ended in his father's death. The creases about his mouth were deeper now than they had been since riding into Cashtown.

When he walked into the Alhambra he brought along a feeling of tension. A half dozen men leaned in groups against the counter. A few more had dropped into unfriendly silence at the poker table. On the platform at the rear of the hall Lily Arnette was playing a fashionable Debussy composition. Frank's stride broke as the power of her music made itself felt. She was considerable of an artist. He wondered again what had brought her here. She sensed the tension in the room and glanced aside, hunting the cause. When she recognized him her lips budded in a smile.

Here was a woman who might put him straight about Cashtown. He might do well to encourage her interest. And then as he drifted against the bar he knew he wanted no part of that friendship.

Texas Eastern helps put backbone in a battleship

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU
Philadelphia Gas Works, a Texas Eastern customer, supplies the gas used at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard. A complete gun turret, stress-relieved in a gas-fired furnace, is pictured here being lowered into place on a U. S. cruiser.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest to help in the job of building fighting ships that can withstand the stresses and shock of battle action. At the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard huge gas-fired furnaces are used to stress-relieve castings, forgings and complete gun turret, bow and stern assemblies. The stress-relieving of these giant units gives added backbone and muscle to the structure and operating parts. Gas is used because the atmosphere and temperature can be exactly controlled... and because gas does the job economically. Today thousands of homes and industries depend upon this modern fuel, because Texas Eastern makes it available, abundantly.
